Sensational British Sea Raid.

British parties were landed to distract the enemy.

The officer who developed the scheme of attack was killed.

Storming parties were landed on the mole from the cruiser Vindictive.

The casualties to the personnel, said Sir Eric, were heavy in proportion to the number engaged.

An enemy destroyer was torpedoed at Zeebrugge.

Two of the blockading ships were sunk and blown up at the entrance to the Bruges Canal.

The piling beside the mole at Zeebrugge was blown up by an obsolete submarine filled with explosives.

The casualties to British craft, Sir Eric said, were one destroyer and two coastal motor boats sunk and two launches missing.

At Ostend, two of the blockading ships were run ashore and blown up.

The French co-operated in the raid, Sir Eric said. He characterized it as an extremely gallant and hazardous undertaking carried out under unknown conditions of navigation.

There was high development of the smoke attack.

The object, he continued, was to block the entrances to Ostend and Zeebrugge.

Monitors were used in addition to storming parties and blockading ships.

STORMING PARTIES UNDER VERY HEAVY FIRE.

The storming parties attacked under an extremely heavy fire and fought with the greatest gallantry, maintaining their position alongside the mole an hour, Sir Eric said. They were believed to have caused much damage to the enemy.

The objectives for the storming and demolition parties on the mole were the enemy forces holding it, the battery upon it and destroyer and submarine depots and a large seaplane base upon the mole.

After re-embarking the landing parties, the vessels engaged in this movement withdrew.

This attack was intended primarily to engage the attention of the garrison on the mole, thereby making it possible for the blockading ships to enter the harbor.

EARLIER ADMIRALTY ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE RAID.

(BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.)

LONDON, April 23.—Uruguay and Argentina are expected to declare war against Germany at some date, according to Berlin advices forwarded by the Exchange Telegraph correspondent at Amsterdam. The German newspapers have been notified to keep the public informed of this development, he adds.

A Montevideo dispatch April 12 said Uruguay had asked Berlin through Switzerland if Germany considered it wise to declare war against the Uruguayan republic, as stated by the commander of a submarine who captured a Uruguayan military mission bound for France. If the reply should be in the affirmative, Uruguay would declare a state of war.

Uruguay definitely broke diplomatic relations with Germany by act of Congress on October 7, last, following the Lexington incident.

Argentina has been apparently on the verge of a break in relations with Germany several times since the publication last summer of the documents in which Count von Luxemburg, German diplomatic representative at Buenos Aires, advised the Berlin Foreign Office, among other things, that a certain Argentine merchant vessel should be "sunk without trial." Lund was held in Argentina and only remained in Argentina because his health was represented to require treatment in a sanatorium.

"With the exception of covering ships, the force employed consisted of auxiliary vessels and six destroyers. Five of these cruisers, armed with torpedoes, were used as block ships, and after being run aground were, in accordance with orders, blown up and abandoned by the crews. The remaining auxiliaries will issue when reports have been received from the ships which are now returning to their bases."

The ports of Ostend and Zeebrugge on the Belgian coast are the principal bases for the operations of the submarines in their campaign against shipping in the North Sea and English Channel. They are of great importance to the Germans for commerce, and it is often necessary for the Allies that they deprive the enemy of them would be one of the most effective means of dealing with the submarine.

An attack on these ports by the British fleet has been made, but the British naval authorities apparently regard the land defenses as too strong to make this practicable. Measures have been adopted to destroy German submarines on entering these ports. Field Marshal Haig's offensive in Flanders last summer was generally believed to have been one of its main objectives.

In Flanders, facilities were restored when it appeared the sand and gravel question was about to be settled as a result of the conciliatory attitude Germany had taken.

CRISIS AT THE HAGUE

Dutch Cabinet in Extra Session.

Transport of War Material Across Netherlands Crux of Situation.

Yielding Would be Equivalent to Abandonment of Kingdom's Neutrality.

(BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.)

LONDON, April 23.—The German ultimatum to Holland, according to advices in London, demands the right of transit not only for civilian supplies and of sand and gravel through Holland, but also for war materials. The privilege of transit is asked not only on the Dutch canals, but also on the railways.

Germany has never before made any claim of the right of transit for war materials and the yielding of Holland on this point would be equivalent to the abandonment of Dutch neutrality.

(BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.)

THE HAGUE, April 23.—The Dutch Cabinet met yesterday in extraordinary session.

The British Foreign Office, according to the London Daily News, has learned that the relations between Holland and Germany are very strained. The dispute over the right of transit from Holland to Germany was said to have been the cause. Official and diplomatic circles in London were reported to look upon the situation with uneasiness, as it was believed that something in the nature of an ultimatum had been delivered to Holland by Germany.

The Handelsblad of Amsterdam on Saturday expressed the belief that Germany would not hesitate to use communication through Holland even at the risk of war if she believed that by doing so victory could be obtained on the western front.

"In the neighborhood of Fampoux one of our raiding parties entered the enemy's trenches and penetrated his support lines.

The hostile artillery was active yesterday afternoon and during the night west of Albert and on the greater part of our front from south of the forest of Nieppe to east of Ypres. Concentrations of hostile troops observed in the Villers-Bre-

Not a Bite of Breakfast Until You Drink Water

Says a glass of hot water and phosphate prevents illness and keeps us fit.

Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of combustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not completely eliminated from the system each day becomes food for the millions of bacteria which inhabit the bowels. These bacteria eat up all the waste, toxins and phytomass-like poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling right must begin to take inside baths. Before eating breakfast each morning drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of lime juice. This will help to wash out of the throat, feet of bowels the previous day's accumulation of poisons and toxins and to keep the entire alimentary canal clean, pure and fresh.

Those who are subject to sick headache, colds, biliousness, constipation, others who wake up with bad taste in mouth, backache, rheumatic stiffness, or have chronic gas-tract disease, meals are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cast very little, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on the subject.

PISTOL IS MYSTERY.

The Federal authorities tonight concentrated their efforts upon determining how the pistol which Ram Singh used had come into his possession. All Hindu defendants are searched daily as they enter the courtroom. Santokh Singh, a third Hindu defendant, was released on bail on suspicion, the Federal authorities said, that he had obtained the pistol and had given it to Ram Singh at the 11 o'clock recess.

At the resuming of the afternoon session, Judge Van Fleet, presiding, exonerated Marshal Holoman from all blame, either for the shooting or for the possession of the pistol by Ram Singh. He announced that Singh had been caught and held under Chandra's body as he fell to the floor. She extricated herself by leaving her slipper.

The bodies of Chandra and Singh lay in the courtroom until just before the resumption of court this afternoon, when they were taken to the morgue. Trials of the bloodless Hindu and well-dressed Hindu, who had not disclosed any of the trial seesions previous, began.

Search was being made tonight for this man in the hope that he

center of San Jacinto at the time of the temblor on Sunday. Fright from the sight of the buildings tumbling about her without immediate understanding the cause is what has caused Mrs. Thelma Hafner to leave the cause of Mrs. Hafner's condition. The Hafners were in an automobile, having motored from Pasadena, at the time of the quake. It is not believed that Mrs. Hafner's condition will be permanent.

Girls students at the Pasadena High School are to have the opportunity of wearing a uniform, whether they are to wear a uniform dress and, if so, whether they prefer a blue serge skirt or a garment of white material, was decided by the Board of Education yesterday afternoon, after a mile-long meeting of the students was presented by Miss N. G. Clarke, student counselor of the school.

After much discussion the Board discovered that while they had enforced military training for boys and girls in the High School, the students should have the right to say whether they should wear a middy blouse or not, but the department heads had only given them the option of choosing the first.

The committee of the board had undertaken negotiations for the purchase of three yards of blue serge, which would be suitable for the girls' uniforms.

Miss Hafner, who was in Pasadena yesterday, said that while Hafner had no objection to the idea of having the girls wear uniforms, she had no objection to the idea of

GOOD EATING.
Americans, there are no food conservation regulations on the battle front, where we are fighting the Germans. "Eat 'em up."

NOT IN IT.
Two millions of somebody else's sons were sacrificed by the Beast of Berlin in the last drive. The furniture thief and his four brothers were not among those sacrificed.

WELL, HE'S ALL RIGHT.
Paderewski is quoted as saying that he will not touch a piano again until Poland is returned to its status as a free and independent nation. Well, never mind—there are few instances of seal so fine and unseizable as that of Ignace Jan Paderewski.

A SEPARATION
Los Angeles officers captured a jug of whisky and a soft-drink dispenser over on East First street. Jug and man will appear in court together and both will get what's coming to them, but it is very probable that the two will not be allowed to occupy the same cell.

IF HE ONLY MIGHT!
A pro-German of Venice who expressed a desire to kiss the Kaiser on both cheeks was given six months in the County Jail. It would be a source of satisfaction to the United States government, as well as to this traitor, if he might have the companionship of William during his incarceration.

MUZZLE HIM.
The man who says that our territory could never be invaded or threatened nor our people subjected to an indemnity, even provided we are not prepared to resist effectively—that man, not only here but where the battle has to be fought on the other side, is spreading dangerous nonsense.

I T'SOMETIMES HAPPENS.
There is only one unpleasant thrill in life to be compared to the sensation produced by the trembling of the earth under one's feet and that is the reception, by a budding young writer, of a big envelope containing his first story, accompanied by a printed slip beginning with the words, "We regret that the enclosed MS. is unavailable," etc., etc., etc.

DANGEROUS REVENGE.
It is good to note that a local police judge has severely condemned the practice of charging persons with disloyalty as the result of petty quarrels. It is a practice pregnant with direful possibilities and the sooner it is stopped the better it will be for all honest citizens. The man who is guilty of such a form of slander is far worse than the one he accuses.

IT'S ALREADY WORKING.
A summary of local business after a trial of only three weeks of the Gandy ordinance shows Los Angeles to be better off on the whole without the saloons. And conditions have not yet had time to fully adjust themselves. The new regime may make some hardships on many people at the start; but within a few months every legitimate enterprise in the city will have begun to profit from the abolition of the saloon evil.

RIGHT SHE WAS.
There is nothing like taking unnecessary chances in the running of an automobile. Took a trip out on Main street the other day with a chauffeur at the wheel whose experience with the machine was limited. In the course of the trip it was necessary to turn around; and what did she do? Drove to Watts where the contour of the road allowed her to come straight ahead back to town. She hasn't yet learned how to turn the car around on a wide road. Safety first is her motto.

IS THERE ANY DIFFERENCE?
Senator Poindexter has pointed out that the movement started to save Thomas Mooney, convicted murderer, is sedulous in character. Poindexter is right. If, after the judge pronounced sentence on Mooney, someone had risen in the courtroom and shouted that the sentence was unjust he would have been guilty of contempt of court. Yet what about the anarchists who are trying to thwart the ends of justice and to make trouble for the government by creating a maudlin sympathy for this dangerous Mooney?

THE LATE D. M. HAMMACK.
The death of Daniel M. Hammack, United States Commissioner, removed one of the links connecting the memories of Dr. Robert J. Burdette and the eloquent Robert Green Ingersoll with the present. The deceased lawyer was never so happy as when he related incidents in the life of Burdette, occurring when they both worked on the Burlington Hawkeye, long before "Bob" became famous. Mr. Hammack practiced law with both Robert G. Ingersoll and his brother, Ebene, whom the eloquent Ingersoll was setting the table at the country hotels in Illinois in a roar with his witicism; and he could tell a good story almost as well as Ingersoll. Peace to his memory! A fine gentleman and true citizen.

A HISTORIC MOTHER-IN-LAW.
A mother-in-law working for peace! If, indeed, Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary can conscientiously claim that his mother-in-law, the Duchess of Parma, was responsible for the gentle peace proposals set forth in the now famous Clemenceau revelations, he is a man to be envied by countless millions of husbands the world over. It is a great historic precedent. Mothers-in-law have figured in history before, but never in this engaging guise. There was Catherine of Medici, mother-in-law of Henry of Navarre, whom history has held responsible for the massacre of St. Bartholomew's Eve; peace was no concern of hers. In the name of religion she called loudly for blood and still more blood, and nothing but the extermination of her religious opponents could satisfy her sense of justice.

Petticoat influence behind the throne is not exactly unknown to history, many a dubious lady-love has ruled her royal lover's kingdom via the boudoir, mostly for ill, rarely for good—but they were not mothers-in-law. Not that royal mothers-in-law have ever been patiently quiescent, modestly retiring in affairs of state, but rather that every normal male, be he king or peasant, is on guard against the machinations of a mother-in-law and the ladies were forever frustrated by their traditional reputation as trouble-makers. "Give a dog a bad name."

And in this connection it is a little pathetic that even in this year of disgrace, 1918 A.D., when an august mother-in-law essayed to set a new standard for her breed and uses her royal influence towards the halcyon of peace, it only stirs up more trouble for her royal son-in-law, that like Adam of old, he cries out, "Lord, the woman done it."

"The Kaiser he was angered,

And called a 'Charlie, where is he?'

But Charlie, he climb up a tree,

Saying, 'Sire, the woman done it.'

But maybe it is natural that the Emperor of a dual monarchy should be two-faced. And even a good mother-in-law that gets one in bad is a consummation devoutly to be repudiated.

There is irony in that thought for the Allies. What influence can one mother-in-law have with a Cabinet or a Reichstag made up of husbands? The mere fact that Her Grace, the Emperor's mother-in-law, is endeavoring to influence him for peace, makes peace for them an undesirable thing, a sinister intrigue, a dark and dubious panacea. The outlook for a separate peace with Austria must be fraught with vain longing for the Allies so long as the militarists have a perfectly good mother-in-law joke with which to stem the tide of harmony.

What of the guile of a harassed Emperor that could snatch upon this world-oppressed tradition for an alibi? Think you that the Allies would ever accept even the most modified German peace if President Wilson, Lloyd George, Premier Clemenceau, and King Albert of Belgium blamed any peaceful leanings they might evince upon their mothers-in-law? We should all suspect the worst at once. When M. Caillaux comes up for trial for his Boilistic proclivities he will doubtless secure reprieve on just some such plea as this. One pictures him breaking down in court, shaken with those heart-rending sobs of a great man, as his voice falters forth the piteous alibi, "My—my mother-in-law—she so longed for peace."

Yes, the Allies are unfortunate in their royal Austrian mamma-in-law friend. Had she but been a brilliant courtesan the Emperor would never dared acknowledge her influence, and for the sake of her continued affection would willingly have shouldered the peace note himself. And with the Emperor himself apparently strong for peace based upon justice, fearlessly proclaiming his honest convictions, he would have had the whole of Austria-Hungary behind him. But where is the nation whose sufferings are so intense that it could heartily indorse, or even surreptitiously believe, in the peaceful and righteous doctrines of a mother-in-law? Oh, Charles, Charles, why have you forsaken her? Think what a splendid historical precedent you could have established; think what her properly-supported influence for peace and righteousness would have meant to mothers-in-law the world over! At one stroke you would have restored the world to peace and mothers-in-law to grace. But traditions die hard; and the horrible, stale mother-in-law joke grins immortal.

MODIFY CHINESE EXCLUSION LAW.
The proposition now before Congress—and which it is to be hoped will receive favorable consideration—to modify the Chinese exclusion law so as to permit for the incoming of a stipulated number of Chinese manual laborers does not include or contemplate any change in the present exclusion law that would give to Chinese immigrants the right to become American citizens or to become owners of land.

Our exclusion law recognizes that the Chinese are industrious, apt, dexterous and accustomed to frugal life. But it also recognises that they do not possess elements of character out of which republican citizenship could be manufactured. The Chinese are a people who in thousands of years of national life have had wars of dynasties and wars of tribes, but who have never had a single insurrection in behalf of liberty of the people and the recent fiasco in behalf of a "Chinese republic" forms no exception to the rule. The fall of the Manchu dynasty and the establishment of temporary government at Peking, whether temporary or permanent, means no more to the people of China than a change of national administration means in the United States and means no change whatever in our commercial relations with China.

The settled policy of our nation when that friend of human liberty, Charles Sumner, was chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Affairs, was Chinese exclusion. He held that slave labor is a curse to any free country, whether it be the enforced slavery of the black man or the willing slavery of the yellow man. He held that the measure of our country's greatness is the intelligence and prosperity of her citizen laborers, and that their welfare would be disastrously affected by the introduction into this republic in any great numbers of people who have no family life to maintain, with whom both polygamy and polyandry are practices, with whom female chastity is not a virtue, who owe the nameless vices and are infected with the nameless diseases of Asia without concealment and without shame, and who have tribunals and plans and destinies of their own.

American Fragments.

"I know we're fighting for democracy, but take it from me, the next time the colonel comes around you'd better salute, see?"

abilities of a desire for "government of the people, by the people, for the people." Western Europe is populated by races who have gone singing to death for freedom. Under the cooled crust of their kingdoms and empires and absolutisms there has surged the lurid lava of aspirations for freedom. Ever and again its volcanic fires have lit the surrounding gloom. Ever and again the fierce music of liberty has sounded in the chords of battle. Ever and again her spirit has burst its bonds and soared in grand even though futile aspirations. But beyond the eastern shores of the Caspian Sea there dwell races of people who are destitute of the thoughts out of which revolutions are made.

The great publicists of Europe and America have repeatedly declared that the American system of government in nation and State is the fairest, wisest and best system of representative government ever devised by man.

The uneasy devil of meddlesomeness, the restless spirit of change, the insatiable yearning for something different from what is, the crazy ambition of cranks and grafters whom one of the accidents of politics placed in temporary power in California were, some years ago, invoked to overturn the system of representative government that could snatch upon this world-oppressed tradition for an alibi? Think you that the Allies would ever accept even the most modified German peace if President Wilson, Lloyd George, Premier Clemenceau and King Albert of Belgium blamed any peaceful leanings they might evince upon their mothers-in-law? THE OTHER FELLOW.
I have noticed that reformers and sometimes physicians sometimes like to try their medicines on "the other fellow." It has been said by one of olden time that

"An apple a day
Keeps the doctor away."

If it is true that
"Two apples a day
Keep two doctors away"

I am all for the doubling up on the apple for the entire family. Personally, I eat it and needs no more to be of any benefit to me.

There is an old saying that a wise crook they have over in Russia now?

Some of the amateur war gardeners are falling back to "selected sitions" with the first appearance of weeds.

Nobody has yet suggested that ladies send their summer furs to the khaki men in France. They might help.

Herb Hoover says: "Buy food with thought." That sounds right, but the man around the corner demands the coin.

It is the Allies from "real send" with the Germans now! Let us stand still and see the nation of the Lord.

The fourth Liberty Loan is booked for November. That will be another reason for the patriotic folk to observe Thanksgiving.

Los Angeles gas consumers seem to be much excited about attacks overseas. They are a hard set and they never wear either.

The Lord is always good to us all. I will wager that I will be more ready next time," Gerlach told him. It is said he has again expressed fears of being France to fight against the Hun. He believed that this worked up to such an extent that he might commit suicide.

At 12 o'clock yesterday morning the jail trustees found Gerlach, who is a pacifist of the protestant type. His sentence is to be served July 7, and as he has again expressed fears of being France to fight against the Hun. He believed that this worked up to such an extent that he might commit suicide.

Just as we expected: when the use of horse meat becomes famine, the price jumps from 9 cents a pound. We will soon be having gravel—we understand there is an unlimited supply of that.

The claim agents convicted of practicing frauds and deceiving dependents of American soldiers killed in France ought to be tried out and shot before daylight without the benefit of clergy.

Reports are coming out of many of cruel treatment and inhuman food accorded the Ally prisoners. In America the interned Germans are enjoying golf, lawn and living on the fat of the land, far, they have not even been seen on the wrist.

The league of nations are now beginning to look up as a great question. But the Central Powers should be included in the conflict and Germany should have a government whose word will be taken by the other signatory powers. And must be armed with power to enforce its decrees.

The housewife has come back to the features of the war. She has lost sight of beneath the factory prosperity and an excess of leisure. Now she knits again, she plays cards. She is spending her time more advantage than when she engaged in tall dancing, low bridge, little suppers, big dinners and tea parties.

It is hard to realize the almost calculable extent of the wreckage this war. Entire countries have literally laid waste. Outside of waste of human life the money cannot be computed. Hardly talk today of taking stock of future. It cannot be done. revolver fired by the assassin of revolution has pierced the heart of world.

Recent legislation by Congress will relieve the men at the front anxieties concerning affairs of the home. No soldier or sailor of the United States to lose his right in property through lawsuits during his service. He is in no danger of the forces on a mortgage or judgment on a home while serving his country. The law also protects him against forfeiture of a homestead or mining claim.

*Bishop Henderson of Detroit himself and the holy cause he represents an humor when, in speaking to the Eastern Methodist General Conference the other day, declared that "it is up to every Christian to preach militant Christianity" and to insist that members of their congregations subscribe to the cause. He said it was the desire of every member of the church to help every pro-German in the country. The Methodist Church North was a loyal organization. THE CASUALTY LIST.

By Edwin A. Hunt. Has the paper come, John? You look so tired, dear! Has the day been hard, long, or do you fear? This day will never end! Our boy is over there. Do you remember him? His big eyes, his yellow hair! Helping you make the garden grow! I wonder—Nothing can happen! He was born to lead me. Don't you think? The father! He was so brave—the dark! Never frightened him. Why do you start so, John?

This picture in his soldier suit—there's still time to buy! To end all that waste your money, not politics, of waste, with talk of strikes, right that can be done, profit, commerce, aids our brothers, could venial war brewing for foolish very short's silent, saving, and what important matters. JOHN.

FIRST BLIND-PIG RAID NETS A SMALL SEA OF STRONG DRINK.

SEVENTEEN barrels of whisky and wine, and eighteen cases of bottled liquor, together with sundry demijohns, casks, and containers, were confiscated by the police yesterday when Officers Bergman and Dillon of the Metropolitan Squad unearthed an alleged blind pig in a basement under the Vendome Saloon, First street and Central avenue.

Surrounded by sacks of potatoes and kitchen supplies, and hidden from discovery by three doors and a narrow passage, the liquor confiscated by the officers was found in a place where even the most thorough search was calculated to reveal nothing of a suspicious nature. The by the officers to have been doing arrest late Monday night of J. L. Nicholson, charged with being a bartender of the place, and the confiscation then of a gallon bottle of whisky, hidden in a secret compartment of a safe, yesterday led up to the recovery of the large quantity of liquor.

Following Monday night's arrest in the case, Officers Bergman and Dillon searched the place, and recovered considerable evidence of activity, they say. Further investigation revealed another gallon bottle, said after asking time to plead.

LOS ANGELES, April 23.—[To the Editor of The Times:] One Francis R. Woodward, through the columns of the public press, has made charges against the Half Century Association of America and against me personally. I desire to make the following statement in the interest of fairness and justice:

Not having collected donations for the Half Century Home Guards, and not having been in charge of any company funds, a fact known to said Woodward, the ability of the organization to "investigate" on the part of said Woodward can be gauged by the fact that the board of trustees requested at Woodward's request to meet with him and the company to discuss and investigate the charges as important to the company and the association.

The company and the board of trustees were on hand, and the records are clean and clear and open for inspection.

Every cent received for or on account of the Half Century Association, the Home Guards movement and the collateral and equally important charitable activities is accounted for, except the detail of the purchases made by said Woodward.

The further trivialities are too puny for discussion in your column.

The need for investigation is, as to the source through which these charges reached the columns of the press, the animus, motive and scheme of the attack, associated to discredit the patriotic association's efforts to serve the community, the State and the nation by adding to the means of local defense and increasing food production by adding to the man power of the farms.

Every item, point, plan and policy of the association is worthy of every public-spirited citizens' moral and financial support.

Its records are open for inspection.

The association and its Home Guard invite it.

It is going to take something of the feeling shown by John Paul Jones. "Remember—his ship was burning and he kept her from sinking by sailing up and lashing the mizen-mast of his ship to the jib-stay of his enemy's. His flag was shot away and the commander of the "Serapis" shouted to "know if he had surrendered. Jones cupped his hands about his mouth and bellowed back, "Who, —— your soul, I have just begun to fight."

There never was born on earth the Kaiser, nor bred on earth the people that can prevail against that spirit.

Friends; we are just beginning to fight. Those other loans were "get ready" loans. The money bought guns and uniforms and ships and shells, and carried our men to France. This loan is a Fighting Loan. Like John Paul Jones, we have just begun to fight, and it is not on record that John Paul lost any time or spared any effort after he cast that profane but immortal die.

The time is past to talk of "needs" or "doing bits" or what we can afford.

Imagine that your civilian coat is the buff-tipped blue that Paul Jones wore. Imagine that your winter derby is his cocked hat. Then let your voice ring as his voice rang. Begin to fight. Buy those Bonds.

WALL STREET DEALINGS
ON REDUCTION SCALE.

Little Public Interest is Displayed in the Stock Market Transactions.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

NEW YORK, April 23.—The reaction offerings of steel were largest on the decline and affected related issues to an equal or greater extent.

Prices were at lowest quotations in the main. Sales amounted to $400,000 shares.

Bonds were firm on the whole than the stock listed, although Liberator, the entire list, coppers excepted, later reversed its course on steady offerings of leaders, especially industrials. Gains in the metal group and a few specialties were retained in part, but elsewhere goals abandoned their bullish tactics. The fall in the war, disturbing conditions in Mexico and several unfavorable statements of earnings discouraged public interest, incidentally furnishing the shorts with fresh ammunition.

Dealers were on a reduction scale, such issues as Distillers Securities, Inspiration and Anaconda coppers, Studebaker, Baldwin Locomotive and Central Leather contributing largely to the turnover. Central Leather made an extreme decline of 4½ points following publication of its quarterly earnings, and Colorado, Alcoa and Nevada Consolidated coppers' annual report was likewise disappointing.

Persistent pressure against United States Steel at an extreme loss of a point, was a potent factor in going over the top, his gun in hand, his jaw set, his heart on fire. It is the most dramatic moment in the life of this soldier—and in the life of this nation.

His heart and mind are set on one thing—VICTORY—victory over an enemy who stands for acts and ideas which this soldier despises—which he is ready to give his life to destroy.

We here at home hate these things too. We are pledged to their destruction—to our last dollar and our last man. But this soldier can actually get his hands-on-them—and root them out of the world forever—if we will lend him a hand.

salmon and barracuda have sprung well around the islands, report, and fairly large catches have been made in the last few days. Yellowtail is at $1.40; rock cod at $1.10; barracuda at 15¢, while halibut remains at the large fish.

The decline in prices is said to be followed by a more severe downward trend. Tomatoes are getting the Mexican shipments are of rapid, and the market is favorable for the California tomatoes. Quotations show an advance of 15¢ per crate, while onions are up 10¢. Summer squashes are up 10¢. Lettuce has not been coming very well, and the consequent advance in price to 15¢ per crate and 10¢ per bunch. Onions were selling 15¢ yesterday. Crystal wax onions continue to come in from the Valley, and are up 10¢. Cabbages are up 15¢ per 50-pound box. It is not likely, produce dealers say, that the new variety coming to the market will weaken the other kinds, which are being sold off by the two varieties being overabundant.

At the Produce Exchange rates were as follows: 422 cases of onions, 15¢; 100 boxes of cheese, 77¢; sacks of potatoes, 95¢; sacks of onions.

Bang Beach and Los Angeles Enter Agreement.

Insects Prove Real Detriment to Ship Workers.

Los Angeles and Long Beach yesterday entered into an agreement for the purpose of exterminating mosquitoes in the harbor district. The Long Beach City Commissioners gave their Health Commissioners, Dr. Taylor, unrestricted power to employ as many men as were needed and buy all the necessary equipment to drive the insects from Long Beach marshes. The Los Angeles City Council yesterday afternoon voted in favor of appropriating $5000 to be used by Health Commissioner Powers and the City Engineer in combating the pests.

It is estimated that the total cost of abolishing mosquitoes within the Los Angeles district will be $10,000.

A committee from the Chamber but the Council took the stand that it does not matter much whether the total amount is more or less than the estimate. The one question to be decided concerns the manner of the pests, and it is the city's duty to provide the money.

President Farmer of the Council valued the problem involves industries valued at $100,000,000, and he thought the proposed policy for the Council to quibble over the expenditure of a few thousand dollars.

Councilman Mallard courted delay when he asked that the City Engineer make an exhaustive report on the situation. His request was turned down.

Chief Inspector Ransom of the United States Shipping Board appointed by the Council to administer his statement of last week to the effect that the government is anxious for the city to exterminate the mosquitoes, because if they are allowed to thrive at the harborside, the diphtheria among the workmen at the shipbuilding plants will leave for northern shipyards.

Mr. Ransom pointed to the fact that the shipbuilding plants now have a population of 25,000 and will have probably $500,000 before the end of the year. He did not think that the city could afford to have this gigantic business leave.

Accompanying Health Commissioners Taylor were City Commissioners of Long Beach, who proudly asserted that they had authorized the expenditure of all the money that would be spent on combatting mosquitoes that are propagated upon Long Beach marshes. They said, however, that their work would be ineffectual unless Los Angeles does its share.

A committee from the Chamber of Commerce urged the Council to take the necessary steps to get rid of the plague. The members stated that the chamber is paying $20,000 monthly to induce manufacturers to come here and that the Council should not permit any obstacle to stand in the way of additional plants.

RED CROSS TAFFAIRS

Buy Two Ambulances.

As the outcome of a little dinner held some months ago in the Los Angeles Athletic Club, a check for $1124.32 was sent East yesterday for the purchase of two war ambulances in New York. These will be presented to the American Red Cross and used wherever most needed by the Allies on the European front.

At the dinner referred to, William E. Smith of Pasadena suggested that it would be splendid to have a few ambulances "over there," and Fred Micheletti was at once named custodian of a fund which a group of club members proceeded to raise by subscription.

Mr. Micheletti, Mr. Frank A. Garbutt and E. M. Nease put in $100 each; Charles Chaplin added $150; W. E. Brophy of the Bank of Bisbee, $50, and many other prominent persons. Completely equipped Ford ambulances will be provided.

FIREMEN'S CONTRIBUTION.

Chief Eley of the fire department yesterday presented to the Red Cross a check for $1000 received from the firemen held in San Francisco.

The presentation took place outside the Red Cross headquarters at Tenth and Main streets, and the check was given to the Salvage Committee and by her turned over to Gurney E. Newlin, president of the Los Angeles chapter.

The firemen's band played and the assembled several firemen and Red Cross men and women workers cheered.
